About Strive:

Strive for College is a new approach to correcting the inequalities of college access, focusing on the lack of information and motivation that many underserved high school students face. Strive for College's 'high-tech/high-touch' approach helps qualified students successfully identify and apply to their best-fit colleges and universities. Strive accomplishes this through a unique college search tool and individualized online curriculum complimented by a grassroots component of undergraduate student mentors. Strive Chapters exist at colleges and universities across the country and are made up of undergraduates who provide one-on-one college mentoring to underserved high school students who need it most.
